Naturally, I still had a hope that Etienne would make the work for me (he has a very good score against Laurent) but the suspense was short-term because Laurent succeeded in making draw very easily thanks to a great preparation from hi side. Thus we both shared first place with 8 out of 11, leaving Etienne, a little bit unlucky in the tournament, with 7 out of 11 "only".

There comes the tiebreak, the stress rises on both sides. For me it's a first experience, and for Laurent, it is the possibility of fulfilling the dream he maintains since his first participation 13 years ago. Please tell me that I will not replace him for the next 11 years !!

The system was: 2 rapid games, followed by 2 blitz games in case of equality, followed by 2 new blitz games in case of new equality, followed by a "sudden death" game if needed.

In the first rapid game, I played 1.c4 in order to surprise my opponent and try to play something but a classic position - he's definitely very well prepared with black pieces. Laurent surprised me with 1...c5. I didn't play the opening convincingly, and after being slightly worse, the game ended in a draw.

In the second one, I employed a Grünfeld defense and I obtained a line which I had analyzed. Laurent played me a dubious continuation at some point, but instead of playing a very simple way (17...a5) with compensations more than sufficient for the pawn (White has to fight for a draw according to my post-mortem analyses), I confused myself and decided to enter a long variation after a huge reflection. Problem: I made a very tremendous calculation mistake (after 23...♖c2 24.♖e1 I overlooked that 24...♗f2 25.♘a3 ♗xe1 26.♘xc2 protects White's bishop on b4!!.) With a pawn less and the disappeared compensations, plus the irreproachable technique of Laurent, it was clear that I had lost the title.

I congratulate Laurent on his title and I am very happy for him in spite of my "obvious" disappointment. I made a beautiful performance and I only be happy. Laurent is an exemplary player and he fully deserves this title. Let's note that after this tournament he peaks around place 25th in the world ranking, a beautiful achievement which rewards his work and his sympathy!

Also congratulations to M. Touze for the beautiful organization of the event.' Kg8 21.Qd8+ Kg7 22.Qd4+ Kg8 23.Qd5+ Edouard,R: '+-' )]
